

There's A New Look Inside

The inside of the Avalanche may appear a bit different this week but most of your favorites are still there — they've just been moved around a bit.

The well-read Avalanche want-ads have been moved off pages four and five and appear toward the back of the paper. Page four now hosts an Opinion Page, and a favorite among many readers, "23 Years Ago," will also be located on page four.

Other minor changes have been made and there will be a few more small changes in the next few weeks. But the Avalanche will not change from its basic role of a community newspaper.

Your suggestions on what you want to see in your newspaper are always welcome. Write us at P.O. Box 480, Grayling, or call 348-6811, or stop by our office at 100 Michigan Avenue.

City Requires Leaves in Bags For DPW Curbside Pick-up

City residents are being asked not to rake leaves into the street curbsides because large amounts of debris get into the storm sewers. The DPW street sweeper also becomes jammed by twigs and branches when vacuuming raked leaves and debris from curbsides.

Because of the clogging problems with the sweeper, the City of Grayling is advising residents to bag leaves for pickup and place them at curbside. This will be the only authorized method of collection by the DPW.

The Search Begins For '87 Miss Grayling Candidates

Would you like to represent Grayling during this very special Sesquicentennial year? If you're a young lady between the ages of 17 and 21, single, and a resident of Crawford County, now is the time to get your application for the Miss Grayling Pageant to be held in January.

Being "Miss Grayling" is an honor for any girl. Participating in the pageant is an experience to cherish and remember for life. First place winners receive a $500 scholarship and first and second runners-up also receive scholarship money.

However, the most important thing for any girl considering the pageant is that she must be ready to make a real commitment to the pageant, herself, other contestants, and to the community. This means that the contestant will attend all workshops and rehearsals and will give up all else the final week before the pageant. Also, a commitment that if they win they will be ready to represent Grayling whenever and wherever they are needed — Houghton Lake for Tip-Up-Town, Kalkaska during the Trout Festival, Gaylord for Alpenfest, Traverse

City for the Cherry Festival, and at social and community functions during the year.

Each contestant will be expected to attend an organizational meeting in mid-December. At this meeting each girl is given a schedule for the entire time leading up to the pageant. Each girl must be prepared to perform in some manner for the talent portion of the pageant and it's not too early to start planning and making arrangements for music and costume if these are necessary. Girls will need an evening gown and a pair of plain black pumps with 2½" to 3" heels. It will also be necessary to purchase a swimsuit (ordered by the pageant committee) and a minimum of accessories for a production number.

The pageant committee encourages any girl interested in filling out an application to call a former contestant or member of the committee to answer questions you may have. Applications are available at the High School counseling office, Cornell Realty, and the Chamber of Commerce office. Deadline for returning applications is November 30th at 5 p.m.

Mattis, Haight Win Commissioner Races

Republican Earl Haight won the district 3 commissioner seat and Democrat Larry Mattis retained his district 4 commissioner seat.

Haight defeated Ed Holtcamp 238-210. Holtcamp outpolled Haight 157-108 in Beaver Creek but Haight beat Holtcamp 130-53 in South Branch.

Mattis defeated Joseph Callewaert 315-255. Callewaert outpolled Mattis 118-95 in Lovells but Mattis beat Callewaert 114-76 in Grayling Township and 106-61 in South Branch.

The local Commission on Aging quarter-mill renewal passed easily 2141 to 847.

In state races, Jim Blanchard carried the county 2,079-1060 over William Lucas in the governor race.

In the 10th Congressional race, Bill Schuette carried the county 1530-1030 over Don Albosta.

All these results are unofficial subject to a board of canvassers' report.

Subdivision Residents Upset at Rezoning

By Jon Thompson

Residents in North Park and Clough's Highland Park subdivisions are opposed to rezoning a parcel of county land to commercial to allow construction of a Dial-A-Ride facility.

The county proposed selling the land to Dial-A-Ride as a site for a $508,000 new facility built with federal and state grants.

Many residents from North Park, which borders on the site, and Clough's, located nearby, are opposed to the Dial-A-Ride facility or any commercial business being built on the approximately six-acre parcel.

"We all use that pocket of woods for recreation," North Park resident Neil Longworth told county commissioners last Thursday at a regular board meeting.

"It's used by both adults and children. I've watched people fly kites there, play baseball, ride trail bikes, snowmobiles, pick berries, I've gone snowshoeing there, others take walks through the area. Right now it is zoned Recreational-Forest and that's how it is used. We're against any commercial use going on that land. We want it left as it is zoned right now," said Longworth.

Another subdivision resident, John Keir, told commissioners he did not think commercial use of that property would enhance his property. He also questioned whether the parcel was the best site for the Dial-A-Ride facility.

"Why select a site that has nice residential areas on two sides?" asked Keir.

Commissioners Chairwoman Mary Harland told the dozen subdivision residents attending the county meeting that the Dial-A-Ride facility would not be a noisy operation.

"The present operation is located between two residences and we've never had a complaint about noise," said Harland. "And one of the reasons for the new facility is the need for expansion. Everything will be done inside at the new facility and all the buses will be stored inside."

David Frederick, director for Dial-A-Ride, said the new facility will be an attractive building and access from the building will be toward Old 27. He said it's likely the new facility would be out of view from the subdivisions.

"I believe there will be no big change to the area," said Frederick.

Longworth said the first 150 feet of the parcel bordering on North Park is a clearing. He felt there was not enough room left on the parcel to provide an adequate buffer zone. Another concern of residents was the storing of impounded police vehicles behind the Dial-A-Ride. They felt the storage of these vehicles, many of them wrecked, looked awful behind the current facility.

Frederick said when Dial-A-Ride moved from their current site, storage of impounded vehicles will probably be moved. Kitchen said the sheriff has already proposed putting a fenced area for the cars near the sheriff department.

Donna O'Grady asked commissioners if other sites had been considered.

Commissioner Jeannette Kitchen, who worked on the site selection, said it was the best site available. Dial-A-Ride needs a fairly large piece of land for the proposed 75 by 150-foot building, yet they need an area close to the center of Grayling, their main service area. Frederick also said they did not want to remove any more land from the county's already small tax base, so they looked at public land available instead of private land.

O'Grady asked about the possibility of acquiring state land but Jeannette Kitchen said it takes a couple of years for the transfer.

"We would lose our grant money for the new facility waiting for the transfer of state land. The grants are only good for a certain time and they require that we have clear title to the land."

"I can't believe it would take two years to get a patch of land from the DNR," said Longworth. "You can't tell me if a bunch of politicians got together, they can't get something moving faster than that."

Commissioner Larry Mattis said it took two years to acquire DNR land for the fairgrounds and there were plenty of people pushing for it.

The residents also asked the commissioners about a smaller parcel along Old 27 to Dial-A-Ride. The small parcel is being considered as a site for new North Central Community Mental Health offices. Some residents said they would rather see the offices on the parcel closer to the subdivisions and the Dial-A-Ride facility near Old 27.

But Frederick said he didn't think there was enough room on the small parcel for the proposed Dial-A-Ride facility.

Longworth said the residents are circulating a petition and will continue to oppose the rezoning.

Howard 'Whitey' Madsen Retires After 45 Years of Newspaper Service

During his 45 years of newspaper work ranging from "printer's devil" to Editor-Publisher of the Crawford County Avalanche, it was the people he encountered that Howard "Whitey" Madsen enjoyed the most.

"That's what I'll miss, meeting the people — meeting the nice people," he added. "I won't miss the irritating phone calls and the irate readers."

"Over the years, working as editor and photographer, I got to meet a lot of nice people. In the early 50's it was my fortune to meet Sonny Cogan, who was then state editor of the Bay City Times. He needed a stringer from our area and he talked me into taking it. I learned the journalism part of the trade by hook or crook."

Madsen also became friends with Wayne Clark, the professional photographer who helped promote Grayling. And Madsen had the honor of meeting Governor George Romney, Governor William Milliken, Governor James Blanchard, and U.S. Congressmen Cederberg, Ruppe, Davis, Albosta and Schuette. Through Camp Grayling, he met Generals MacDonald, Schnipke, Johnston, and Andrews, all Adjutant Generals of the Michigan National Guard, and many other high ranking officers.

"Another highlight would have to be meeting all the Miss Michigan Winter Sports Pageant Queens. I have to admit I was a little prejudiced toward them," he joked.

Madsen also enjoyed meeting other editors and publishers at state meetings.

"It was a good way to talk about problems you might have in common."

Madsen started young in the newspaper business — at the age of 16. His first job with the Otsego County Herald Times came after two bad accidents. In a basketball game during his junior year, he was pushed into a stage at the end of the court and he broke his wrist. A few weeks later, with his arm in a cast and sling, he reached for a beaker of sulphuric acid in chemistry lab and knocked it on his leg causing severe burns.

His family didn't have insurance and treatment for the two accidents was expensive. A benefit basketball game was held to raise money and Madsen went to the newspaper office afterwards to place a Thank-You. The owner asked him if he wanted to work and Madsen began his 45 years of newspaper work.

He swept floors, fed coal in the furnace, and washed presses, plates, and rollers. He soon graduated into more dirty work as a printer's devil.

"I had to melt the metal used each week down in the basement and the dirt and metal would make an awful smoke. There wasn't any windows so I had to stick my head out the coal chute for a breath of fresh air."

He worked five years in Gaylord until the Army drafted him in October, 1942. He went overseas to Okinawa and Korea and later was stationed at several U.S. bases. He married Thelma Papendick in the summer of 1944 and their daughter Toni was born in 1945 and son Dane in 1948.

Whitey and Thelma met through basketball. Although he played for Gaylord and she was cheerleader for Grayling, he said fraternizing with opponents was not unusual in those days.

"It was a lot different back then. The boys in Gaylord had a motto, 'We cover the North like the snow.' We would pick different towns to go to just to meet girls."

After the service, Madsen went to work for Bob Strong at the Crawford County Avalanche. He started running the linotype presses and eventually became backroom foreman.

Running the old presses will be an experience he never forgets. The static electricity from the presses was so bad they threw buckets of water over them.

Live Entertainment Featured At United Way Auction

This year's United Way Auction will take place Saturday, November 22nd, at the K of C Hall with Ron Sprague, local auctioneer, doing the chant. One of the added attractions of the evening will be entertainment by our local mistress of the keyboard — "Songs and Snappy Patter" Kay Mathews.

Kay is so talented she could put on an entire show all by herself. She was first introduced to the community at last year's "Cabaret" put on by the Crawford County Arts Council. Hearing Kay could be worth the entire price of admission, but there is more, much more! There will be two mystery prizes to bid on...one worth a great deal, and the other...zippo! Remember some of the great items from last year? A Bud Light framed mirror, just the thing for your private bar. A complete set of golf clubs, so you can think spring all winter. Two large pizzas with everything (and a supply of Turns), a Microwave, and a stereo.

And this year, along with a cash bar, there will be hot and cold snacks from the K of C kitchen. All this, while you bid on exciting items and help to make this year's United Way Fund Drive the most successful ever.

This year's committee is working hard to assure that the auction items are bigger and better than ever. The auction gets underway at 6 p.m.

Remember, no one comes door to door for your donation. Instead you can support United Way agencies and have a good time while you're doing it. Tickets are $5 and are available at Mac's Drugs, The Village Shop, and R. Wieber Jewelers.

Memorial Services Scheduled For John J. Steele

John J. Steele, 62, of Grayling passed away Monday, November 3, 1986. Memorial services will be held this Friday, November 7, 1986, at 2:00 p.m. at the Sorenson Funeral Home. A full obituary will appear in next week's paper.

Grayling State Bank Gives $2,500 Toward Community

The Community Self Improvement Project received a $2,500 boost from the Grayling State Bank. C.S.I.P. is initiating a fund raising effort called "A Lil' Bit Of Grayling," in which certificates containing one square inch of Grayling sand will be for sale at five dollars each.

The contribution from the Bank will enable the C.S.I.P.

to obtain the necessary promotional material to make the fund raiser a success. It is expected that the certificates will be purchased by tourists as well as local residents.

Judy Weaver, chairperson of the C.S.I.P. committee, received a check for $2,500 from Jack Alef of Grayling State Bank. Grayling State Bank has demonstrated, throughout its history, a strong and continuing commitment to the Grayling community. They recently completed a paved and landscaped parking lot on Peninsular, which they leave open to the public, and the successful "Thank You Grayling" day was initiated from the Grayling State Bank.

The Community Self Improvement Project is an Ad Hoc committee which began meeting over a year ago. Its goals are to improve the business climate in the downtown. The monies received from the certificate sales will be used for beautification, streetscaping, theme lighting, improved parking, and economic restructuring.

Harold Golnick Promoted To Command Sergeant Major

Harold W. Golnick, long-time resident of Grayling, has been promoted to Command Sergeant Major in the Michigan National Guard. Command Sergeant Major is the highest rank an enlisted member can achieve.

CSM Golnick, currently assigned as the Camp Grayling Sergeant Major, works full-time as a production controller with the Mobilization and Training Equipment Site (MATES), Camp Grayling.

Instant Game Offers $100,000

Michigan's newest instant game, "Holiday Cash," on sale November 4, may be able to help out people who still have Holiday shopping to do but are running out of money.

"This game has it all," Lottery Commissioner Michael J. Carr said. "We're offering a top prize of $100,000 and more than 10,000 $100 and 20,000 $50 prizes."

more humidity. They tried hanging Christmas tinsel to draw off the static charge. Nothing worked well.

The static electricity was a mild problem compared to the heat from melting lead on summer days. Somedays the temperature reached 120 degrees Fahrenheit in the old Avalanche building.

In 1967, a group of Madsen, LeRoy Papendick, Dick Jones, Dana McVay, and Richard Milliman bought the Avalanche from Strongs, and Madsen became Editor-Publisher.

"It was a challenge and I accepted it. Being in the public eye is something I'm going to miss. Everyone has an ego."

The paper grew in the 20 years under Madsen. It went from an average of eight pages an issue with 2,000 circulation to an average of 16 pages with a circulation of 4,600.

In addition to his newspaper work, Madsen also served on the Grayling City Council for five and a half years and the Grayling Chamber of Commerce. But he is best known for his newspaper contributions. Close to 200 persons turned out Saturday, November 1, to honor him at a surprise retirement party. Along with jokes about his "orange pop" and "turkey," his fair, honest treatment of people was commended. Eleven organizations presented him with appreciation awards, Mike Delp read a testimonial to his ability to get along with people, and Avalanche owner Richard Milliman praised his work.

Madsen is only the fourth Editor-Publisher of the Avalanche in 104 years. He joins Dr. Oscar Palmer (1882-1911), Oscar Schumann (1911-1944), and Robert Strong (1944-1967).

He stepped down from his editor position at the Avalanche November 1 but he will remain as publisher on a part-time basis.

pose rezoning of the land.

A public hearing on rezoning the land was first held Tuesday, Oct. 28, by the Grayling Township Planning Commission. Only one subdivision resident attended that meeting and objected to the rezoning. The Grayling Township Planning Commission recommended the parcel be rezoned to commercial that night and sent it on to the Grayling Township Board for their approval.

On Wednesday, the Grayling Township Planning Commission held a public hearing for a conditional use permit to allow the Dial-A-Ride facility to be built on the parcel. Approximately 25 subdivision residents heard about the rezoning and attended the Wednesday meeting to ask questions.

The planning commission tabled any action on the conditional use permit allowing the residents time to attend the county commissioners' meeting Thursday and the Township Board meeting November 11. Besides requiring approval from the Grayling Township Board, the rezoning must be reviewed by the county planning commission.

Opinions

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson

Tony Doremire is a special type of person. Although it's impossible to please all of the people all of the time, Tony manages to be well-liked by most of the community.

It hurt me and many others to hear of his recent heart attack in the early hours of Wednesday, October 22.

Tony earned my respect through his dedicated work with the county ambulance corps. He started the Crawford County Ambulance Corps around 1974 and has been director ever since. Starting with his service as a medic in the Air Force, Tony has been rushing to emergency scenes for about 26 years.

Yet, he isn't jaded or hardened by it all, despite witnessing as many as 4,000 bloody, gruesome scenes.

I'll never forget the interview I had with Tony when I asked him what was the toughest type of accident for him to face.

He looked at me and, without a moment's hesitation, he said, "Any accident involving children."

He paused and closed his eyes for a second as if to try to block out some of the horrible memories of scenes he had come across with children involved.

"Those are the ones that really rip your guts," he said. "But you're so busy when you arrive at the scene, you don't let it bother you then. You do your job and try to help the best you can. It's not until later that it really gets to you."

During another time I was talking with Tony, he mentioned that Mike Hauxwell, a former member of the county ambulance corps, is writing a book on the corps' experiences. That's a book that should be of interest to a lot of county residents and I hope Tony will still be able to add a few more chapters to it.

As of Sunday, Nov. 1, Tony was improving daily at Northern Michigan Hospitals in Petoskey and may even be back in Grayling by the time this issue is published.

I join all the people he has helped over the years in wishing him a speedy recovery.

Politicians reach for the credit

by Richard Millman

ONE OF THE WONDERS of human nature is that two individuals can look at the same set of facts and come up with two distinctly different conclusions.

That's what makes life so unpredictable ... and that's why we have lawyers and courtrooms, too.

A case in point is the political maneuvering rampant throughout Michigan in this campaign year centered on the question of economic recovery.

There is little argument that Michigan is much better off economically in 1986 than it was a few years ago. But one main question remains: Who is responsible?

One school of thought is that credit belongs to President Ronald Reagan, and his economic policies, for what he's been able to accomplish on the national level to make things better.

Across the room is the second school of thought, giving credit in Michigan to Gov. James Blanchard, and his economic policies, for what he's been able to accomplish on the state level to make things better.

MICHIGAN'S LARGEST newspaper, The Detroit News, a while back conducted a poll asking who was responsible for Michigan's relatively bright economic picture right now.

The results were almost exactly split according to political lines:

Republicans credit Mr. Reagan over Mr. Blanchard, 65 percent to 20 percent; in addition, 5 percent of Republicans said both should share the honors, and 7 percent said neither should get any credit.

Among Democrats, however, the result was completely turned around. Democrats credit Mr. Blanchard over Mr. Reagan, 66 percent to 15 percent; in addition 6 percent of Democrats said both should share the credit, and 6 percent said neither should.

Turning to the independent for a true picture is no help. Among those who identify themselves as neither Republican nor Democrat, the result was right down the middle - 37 percent said Mr. Reagan, 37 percent said Mr. Blanchard, 10 percent said both, and 10 percent said neither.

I DON'T ARGUE with these results. My personal feeling is that the Michigan picture would not be the same without Mr. Reagan in the White House, nor would it be the same without Mr. Blanchard in the Capitol - in other words, both had a hand in shaping our state's economic picture.

It is understandable why both political sides try to grab credit for how things are, because things are pretty good right now, all in all - especially compared with four years ago, or even two years ago - and they figure it will help their particular candidates in November.

But it doesn't appear that much glory will stick to any set of candidates; in other words, Democrats are going to vote for Democrats and Republicans for Republicans, as far as the economic issues are concerned. And that's probably the way it should be.

THE NATURE of the political system is that the incumbents generally get credit - or blame - for shaping today's situation, regardless of whether they are for or against any particular issues.

If the voters are pretty well satisfied with their lives the way they are, then they will tend to vote for the people who currently hold office; if, however, voters are dissatisfied with how they're faring on election day, they will tend to vote for someone different.

This generally holds true regardless of the level of government, and regardless of party, or regardless of mixed party, which is what we have in many sections of Michigan this election year.

IT ALSO IS the nature of the political beast to try to dodge blame when things start going bad. Thus, Republican administrators attempt to blame Democrat lawmakers when the economy is in poor shape, and Democrat legislators attempt to blame Republican executives for the same sins, and vice versa.

If the economy in Michigan - and the country, for that matter - takes a turn for the worse, as it inevitably will one of these days, today's honor-grabbing exercise will be reversed. It's one of the rules of the game.

In most cases, however, there's enough credit to go around and there's enough blame to spread, too.

Government is not a one-person show. It takes more than one person to make a mess, and more than one to clear it up, too.

Still Working on Trust Fund Drive for Sullivan

Dear Friends:

I am still working on the John Sullivan Trust Fund and just received a shipment of candy bars (12 cases) in all, which I hope to sell to the good people of Grayling, for 40 cents per one dollar bar profit for John. Won't you please stop by the Grayling State Bank and support John by purchasing one or more? I would like to reach my goal by Christmas and present his family with a nice check for the Holidays from the caring people of Grayling.

Anyone wishing to send John a birthday card, November 8, may do so by writing to John Sullivan, 3030 Sullivan Rd., Marlette, Mi. 48453.

P.S.C. Gives Consumers Okay To Resume Midland Construction

Warren M. Hoyt, Exec. Dir., MPA

The Public Service Commission said it has no objections to Consumers Power Company resuming construction of its Midland power plant under a proposed partnership.

Unanimous orders issued by the PSC cleared the last regulatory hurdles for the new partnership to proceed with the $560 million project to convert the idled plant to a gas-fired electric/steam cogeneration facility.

The actions means Consumers will be able to salvage a major portion of its $4.1 billion investment in what was intended to be a nuclear generating plant.

The planned conversion will use about $993 million in existing facilities in addition to the $560 million invested by Dow, Consumers and other partners for the 1,250 megawatt generator which will also produce 1 million pounds of steam an hour. "On-line in '89," is how Consumers spokesman Paul Knopick described the Midland plant's future, and predicted it would be operational within three years.

"We can now go forward and convert Midland. The thrust (of the PSC action) is everything we could have asked for," he said. He said the one remaining step is to finalize the partnership agreement with Dow Chemical and others who will invest in the conversion project.

PSC chairman William Long said the action did not give official approval for the project, but instead clarified restrictions which had been placed on the utility when it was granted a $91 million a year rate hike last year to fend off bankruptcy brought on by the burden of the failed nuclear facility.

The order in fact states that the action may not be used as evidence of PSC support for the project, the prudence of the venture, or a determination of rates.

"It's really a management position on moving ahead on the project," Long said. "It's free to enter into the type of venture it described, but only if ratepayer money is not involved."

He said commissioners did not really discuss whether $91 million rate should be rescinded in light of the utility's stated ability to come up with $50 million to invest in the conversion project.

Commissioner Matthew McLogan said that ability only reflects that the financial stabilization rate is working, but the utility is still far from financial health.

Knopick said the $50 million would come from debts backed by stockholders.

In its orders, the PSC said Consumers assurance that it would put no more than $50 million toward the conversion and that the money would not come directly from ratepayers means the proposal would not violate conditions set in the 1985 rate order. The commission rejected the utility's request that the condition against further investments be lifted.

"Because we find that Consumers cannot spend jurisdictional revenues at Midland, the question of whether Consumers would jeopardize its financial stability by the expenditure of ratepayers' funds is moot," the PSC said.

Assistant Attorney General Hugh Anderson declined immediate comment, although Kelley said last month he could support the conversion project is no ratepayer funds were used.

Citizens Lobby Executive Director Joe Tuchinsky, an opponent of the Midland project, objected to the order, saying the PSC was "playing word games" by suggesting the $50 million would not come from ratepayers.

"All that money comes from customers. If the $91 million is the minimum needed to keep the company stable, it couldn't afford to put that money into Midland," he said. He said the cost of electricity from the converted plant would raise Consumers rates 20-22 percent, with other Midland-related costs pushing rates even higher.

Consumers officials said rates would be increased 10-15 percent when the Midland-produced power is added to the rest of the system.

The PSC still will have authority to determine the prudence of the rates Consumers will pay the new partnership for power it buys from the converted Midland plant.

The only other pending Midland-related case before the PSC is Consumers' request for about $1.9 billion to cover the costs of its unused and abandoned nuclear facilities.

In another, the commission said Consumers complied last year with all 12 of the conditions outlined in the financial stabilization order.

Reader Disappointed In Safety Procedures At Haunted House

October 28, 1986

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my disappointment and concern on the way that the Chamber of Commerce and the Grayling City Police handled the Kids Night at the Haunted House, downtown Grayling, on Monday, October 27, 1986.

When the Chamber of Commerce set a time for the opening of the house for Kids Night, it should have opened at the time scheduled instead of 40 to 45 minutes late. By doing this, it caused a very serious safety problem for the children that came to visit the Haunted House. There should have been better safety procedures discussed before Kids Night.

The Grayling City Police should have closed north bound right lane of Cedar Street to prevent any child from being run over who might have fallen, tripped, or even walked off the curb by accident playing around with other children. The sidewalks in that area, with the amount of children there that night, was, in fact, unsafe.

When myself and other parents recognized the safety problem, we asked one of the proprietors in the area (Plaza Bar) to phone the police for assistance on traffic/children control. When called they passed by the area one time. The parents, county official, prominent Doctor of D.D.S. and the proprietors were very upset that the police did not show any initiative by setting up a flare, barricade, etc., to close one lane.

We, the parents, hope the next time they have Kids Night at the Haunted House in downtown Grayling, the Chamber of Commerce of Grayling will have solved this safety problem.

Sincerely,
Roy Renon

Mr. Whitey Madsen
Crawford Co. Avalanche
Grayling, Mi 49738

Dear Whitey:

Long time, no see! We don't get back to Grayling very often, but we think of all our old friends frequently since we read the Avalanche every week. Lot of new names, however.

At any rate, the Bonamie family is proud to announce their new silkscreening business featuring wildlife t-shirt! You can see by the enclosed brochure, the series of designs we are offering are attractive...the result of Cliff's artistic talents.

We are offering these in a national marketing effort, and the first store in your town to stock them is Weaver's Gift Shop. Judy requested they be customized to include "Grayling, Michigan" which was done. That is the other part of our business - customizing with individual's store names, clubs or other organizations, etc.

Cliff is our artist, Julie the secretary/treasurer (when she has free time from her job at a doctor's office), Chuck is the jack of all trades, and Mom does her thing with sales and book work on off hours from her job as operations manager at Muzzy Products, an arrowhead manufacturing company. We are super busy, but enjoying it completely.

We would like to invite everyone to visit Weaver's to see the quality of our product, and also to visit our shop when they are passing through Gainesville, one way or the other.

Hello to Thelma. I'm sure she's looking forward to your retirement so you can play golf with her everyday... We think frequently of the times we used to get together at the basketball and football games. Those were the good old days.

Tell everyone hi for us and maybe we will get up there next year.

Sincerely,
Shirley Bonamie

New KCC Program Offers Job Training

Contracting with Business and Industry, a new program at Kirtland Community College that combines classroom studies with on-the-job training, has surpassed expected goals, according to John Loiacano, CWB & I Coordinator. "The interest expressed by the public was overwhelming for such a new concept. We had hoped for 15 students and ended up with 19," he said. Training sites were established throughout the four county area, and as far away as Tawas City, Gaylord, and Cadillac.

Areas of training included: floral design; special education secretary; medical laboratory assistant; commercial sign painter; radio announcing; bank teller; taxidermy; auto body repair; veterinary assistant; hotel/motel management; physical therapist assistant; newspaper advertising; industrial secretary; and gunsmithing.

Employers are delighted with the quality of students, and at having the opportunity for input in their training process. Students are excited about the chance to train in areas that, until a few months ago, were unattainable goals for them.

Interceptions Lead Vikes To Final Game Win

Two interceptions by Ward Jones led to two touchdowns for Grayling in a 15-6 season-ending victory over Onaway. With three minutes to go in the half and Grayling trailing 6-0, Jones picked off an Onaway pass and ran 24 yards to the Onaway one-yard line. Wolcott punched it over for the tying score and Darrin Alimenti kicked the extra-point.

In the third quarter, another Jones interception gave Grayling the ball at the Onaway 40. A Todd Klinger pass to Jeff Palmer led to a pass interference call at the Onaway 20. Paul Anteau ran an option play to the ten and Wolcott scored from there. Grayling lined up to kick the ball again but Todd Klinger rolled out one way and threw back to the kicker, Alimenti, all alone in the end zone.

Grayling missed a scoring opportunity early in the game. A 30-yard pass by Klinger to Wayne Casler helped move the ball to the Onaway two-yard line. Grayling lost yards on the next plays and threw an incomplete pass. The fourth down pass was intercepted.

Ward Jones led the defense with 19 tackles. Jim Laurent had 15, Steve Lehti 11, Jayson Welser 7, and Scott VanDeVen 5. VanDeVen and Wolcott recovered fumbles. The defense held Onaway to 89 yards rushing and 37 yards passing. Grayling ends with a 3-6 overall record. It was the last game for 13 seniors and 19 juniors will return.

Grayling bounced back after a horrible loss to beat West Branch 40-33 last Thursday. Although the shots wouldn't fall in the first half - the Vikings were 6 for 40 - they managed to beat West Branch for their 13th win against 2 losses.

Melanie Ojala scored 16 to lead the team. Patty Tremblay scored 9, Linda Goodale

J.V.'s Maul Onaway 40-12

Grayling finished a successful 6-2-1 year with a 40-12 thrashing of Onaway last Thursday.

Bud Ostrowski started the rout with an interception on the first series. He picked off an Onaway pass and ran 50 yards for a score. Rusty Argue ran the two-point conversion.

Grayling scored again in the first quarter on a one-yard run by Skeeter Apps. Ostrowski kicked the extra-point. Still in the first quarter, Argue ran 73 yards for a touchdown. A bad snap on the extra-point try kept the score at 21-0.

Craig Hudson scored next on a three-yard pass from Chris Skidmore to make the score 27-0. Marty Jung scored on an 11-yard run to push the score to 33-0 at half. Most of the Viking team played in the first half and everyone played in the second half.

Ostrowski scored on a quarterback keeper from 25 yards out and the kick was good by Ostrowski to make it 40-0. Onaway scored again in the fourth quarter.

The Viking defense led by John Gay, Ostrowski, Frank Hartwick, and Karl Davis held Onaway to one first down in the first half. Offensively, Jeremy Mead ran well behind the blocking of Ted Baynam, Kyle Davis, Bill Franks, Tim Hickey, and Jeff Millikin. Others playing well were Chad Flowers, John Lamie, and Brian Kernstock.

4th Quarter Defense Sparks Basketball Team

Junior Dena Thayer shook off an illness and came off the bench to lead Grayling to a 42-40 win over West Branch last Thursday.

Thayer stole the ball and scored a lay-up for the winning basket. She also made two free throws in the last two minutes.

The defense of Thayer and the rest of the team helped Grayling over a six-point deficit in the fourth quarter. Grayling held West Branch to only five points in the last eight minutes.

Michelle Moore led the team with 14 points, Shawn Denton had 6, Carrie Trudgeon 6, Thayer 4, Rebecca Jones 4, Richele Trudeau 4, Jennifer Ojala 2, and Jenni Branch 2.

Denton led the team with 13 rebounds and Ojala had 8. Moore and Thayer led with three steals each.

Grayling switched to a man-to-man defense in the third quarter and the change helped the Vikings come back. West Branch led 13-10, 25-16, and 35-29 at the quarter marks. The Vikings again had a poor night at the free throw line hitting only 8 of 21 while West Branch hit 12 of 18.

Earlier in the week, Grayling tumbled to undefeated Gaylord 54-40. Denton led the team with 16 points. Trudeau and Moore had 7 each, Ojala and Branch 4 each, and Jones 2.

Gaylord lost later in the week but still leads the league.

The Vikings took a 8-7 overall record into Tuesday's game against St. Ignace at home. Grayling plays Rogers City away on Thursday.

I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You By Bob White

Here's one that may surprise you...Did you know that John Madden, now a TV football announcer, but formerly coach of the Raiders in the NFL, won a higher percentage of games than the legendary Vince Lombardi...Here are their career records as head coaches in regular season games in the National Football League...Lombardi won 96 games, lost 34 and tied 6 for a percentage of .728...Madden won 103, lost 32 and tied 7 for a percentage of .750.

Of all the football stadiums in use in America today, which one is the oldest?...Answer is Harvard Stadium, which has been used every year since 1903.

Did you know that 5 of today's National Football League teams had different nicknames when they started?...The Washington Redskins original nickname was Braves...The New York Jets started as the Titans...The Chicago Bears first nickname was Staleys because they were sponsored by the Staley Starch Co...The Kansas City Chiefs' franchise originally was in Dallas where the team's nickname was Texans...And the Pittsburgh Steelers began in 1933 as the Pirates and didn't become known as the Steelers until 1940.

I'll bet you didn't know...that in March of 1987, GM will be unveiling a completely restyled full size 1988 pick up...Also new Chevrolet will be offering a full size extended cab pick up.

Mires and Beckwith Exchange Vows

Sandi A. Mires and Daniel Beckwith were united in marriage July 26, 1986, at St. Elizabeth Episcopal Church, Higgins Lake. Rev. Eric Fenton officiated at the 6 p.m. double ring ceremony before an altar of white mums, and blue daisies secured with blue bows.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Jack Biggar with Jack and Gary Beckwith, brothers of the groom singing "Suddenly" and "You Mean More To Me".

The bride is the daughter of Chuck and Linda Mires, of Roscommon. The groom is the son of Jack and Ruth Beckwith, of Grayling.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a crisp taffeta gown with a bouffant skirt with four tiers of ribbon, trimmed ruffles, and melon sleeves. Lace medallions trimmed the bodice. She wore a semi-cathedral train and silk and pearl headband with pout and fingertip length veil sprinkled with pearls, and carried a cascade of Ivy and Stephanotis.

Chris DeWitt, friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Stacey Senor, friend of the bride, Beverly Stevenson, sister of the groom, and Tamara Mires, sister of the bride. All wore strapless tea length gowns of Cornflower blue taffeta with venise lace trim and dropped waist, matching headband with a taffeta rose and veiling. The girls carried bouquets of Stephanotis, Ivy, mini Carnations and blue Daisies.

Jack Beckwith, brother of the groom was best man. Groomsmen were Scott Mires, brother of the bride, Gary Beckwith, brother of the groom, and Mike Doremire, friend of the groom. All wore Miami Vice fiesta blue tuxedos. The groom was attired in Miami Vice white tuxedo.

Both mothers wore tea length dresses, Mrs. Mires in dusty blue and Mrs. Beckwith in mauve.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 250 guests was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Music was provided by DJ Fred Hinkle and the High Society Wise Guys.

After a two week honeymoon in Hawaii the newlyweds are making their home in Traverse City.

The bride has attended Ferris State College and McConnell Travel School, Minneapolis, Minn. The groom was in the Air Force and is attending Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City.

Out of town guests were from Pickford, DeTour, Detroit, Flint, Lansing, Sault Ste. Marie, Rochester, and Port Huron.

SIX POINT — Peter Oppermann, 13, of Grayling, shot a six-point, 145-pound buck with a bow Oct. 26 south of Grayling.

Dandy Begins Belgium Service

'Winter Chicken' Comedy Opens November 7 Here

On Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, November 7, 8, and 9, the Grayling Holiday Inn and H T Productions will present their dinner-theatre production, "Winter Chicken." Reserved seat tickets are presently available in the Sales Office of the Holiday Inn or reservations can be made by calling 348-7611. Ticket price of $12.50 includes both dinner and the show. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday and at 3:30 on Sunday. The show, "Winter Chicken," begins at 8:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

"Winter Chicken" is a laugh-a-minute comedy that can best be described as being something like "The Golden Girls" of television fame. Eleanor Bander has decided that, after 15 years of living alone following a divorce, she wants her old husband back. Eleanor, played by D.J. Taylor, made this decision shortly after she learned that Walter, played by Clayton Horton, is now rich. She is assisted in her scheme by her dear friend, Elma Blue, played by Mary Galloway, a not too successful novelist who tends to drink a little too much. Complicating the plan somewhat is Eleanor and Walter's grown daughter, Elizabeth, played by Renata Champion. Others appearing in the cast are Mel Moore as Dr. Ralph Abernathy, a rather amorous optometrist who is introduced to drink for the first time, Todd Riley as Elizabeth's fiancée Vince, and Sue Swalec as Walter's girlfriend and Eleanor's old enemy Gretchen Hiller.

Spirit Club Promotes Vikings

The Viking Spirit Club was formed four years ago by a group of interested parents wanting to promote spirit and do something special for the students involved in athletics at Grayling High School.

During our existence, some new activities were started. We provide dinner for the Varsity football and cheerleading team before all home games, supply cookies following both girls and boys basketball games, and have held many pizza parties. Ski gates and pom-poms were purchased by our club. Each team coach decides how our donation will be spent.

In order to fund our activities, we sell 50-50 tickets and this year will be making photo buttons of each team member of every sport.

Additional photo buttons are available. Contact Cathy Hickey at 348-9500 by November 10.

If you are interested in joining the fun and showing your spirit and support in a larger capacity, contact John Gay, President, 348-9234.

'Raise The Roof' Playing at KCC

Little Miami Theater Works, who will be performing "Forgotten Crossroads" on Saturday, November 8, at Kirtland Community College, will perform a special children's show called "Raise The Roof" on Friday, November 7, in the Gilbert I. Stewart Auditorium.

Through story and song, "Raise The Roof" describes turn-of-the-century farm life. Midway through harvest, a family's barn is struck by lightning and burns to the ground. You discover how this tragedy becomes a catalyst for the community to share in an old-fashioned barn raising. The family's roof is raised first by the labor of their neighbors, then by celebration. Fast paced and laced with humor, the play high-lights the simple joys of growing up on a farm.

Douglas Purcell, Cultural Events Coordinator at Kirtland stated, "We made this show available to the area schools, and we are excited that over 700 students and teachers, from all over the KCC district are going to attend."

Tickets for the 8 p.m. Saturday evening performance of "Forgotten Crossroads" are available at the Kirtland Community College Bookstore or by calling KCC at (517) 275-5121. Remaining tickets will be available at the door Saturday evening beginning at 7 p.m.

THE PORTRAIT PLACE

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

BIBLE CREATION SUPPORTED

by Archaeology, Geology, and Hydrology

Creation Evidences museum in Glen Rose, Texas displays a hammer embedded rock that evolutionists claim is more than 435 million years old. The hammer handle had changed to coal. Two fossilized coiled rattlesnakes are displayed, one with an arrowhead in its skull. Artifacts found in coal include a drill bit, a gold chain, and a perfect cube of iron. This proves man was highly developed before the flood.

Most geologists would agree that over 90 percent of the sediments were laid down by water. While sedimentary rock found around the world from mountains to valleys gives support for a universal flood; the formation of mountains can be attributed to the same flood. The tremendous weight of floodwaters combined with underground forces can best explain the mountain uplifts. Study of the patterns of the Earth's mountain ranges have led some scientists to mathematically calculate that the mountain uplifts took place recently within the past six thousand years.

While evolutionists claim Canyons like the Grand and Bryce Canyons are the result of millions of years of slow water erosion, Creation scientists can show an effective model for very rapid gouging out of the Grand Canyon. Creationists prove it could have been easily done in a few years. They claim waters trapped in high mountain ranges during the Flood gouged out these huge canyons. On October 31, 1981, Grapevine Lake in Texas following an overflowed spillway sent rushing waters to erode a small canyon approximately forty feet deep and two hundred feet wide in less than five hours.

The formation of limestone stalagmite and stalactites in such places as Mammoth Cave, Kentucky and Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico has taken millions of years according to evolutionists. Scientific examination has shown that in Mammoth Cave stalagmites grow at the rate of one inch every twenty years. Therefore, the formation of even the oldest stalagmite took no longer than four thousand years based on this present growth rate.

Many evolutionists will privately admit that the facts do not support evolution, but they can't stand to consider the alternative, faith in God and the Bible.

Chamber Notes

By Terry Wright

There are many aspects to a Chamber of Commerce in any community. The business people, the volunteers, local governmental units, and the list goes on and on. But to any and all Chambers across the world a common necessity for successful operation is the full support of the local press. This is certainly true in Crawford County, and your Chamber has been fortunate to have the support of the Avalanche for many, many years. Now, as the Avalanche changes its editorial leadership, it is time that we express our sincere appreciation to Whitey Madsen for always providing us an opportunity to get our stories and press releases and public service announcements out to the community. Whitey always treated the Chamber with respect and dignity and more than a few times allowed us special discount privileges on our supplies and advertisements. We will miss him at the Avalanche but we're sure he'll still be a Chamber supporter as a private citizen. We wish him all the best for the future.

The Halloween Spook House was a complete success. We are still gathering all the statistics that accumulated in putting it together and will report on them later. I think you will be surprised to find out what a large effort the volunteers put into making it so much fun. Over 2000 adults and children of all ages went through it.

After leaving Bowie they drove to New York where they left her car with R.J. Hannan's parents and flew to Italy. They were able to view the Pope a couple of times, and went sight-seeing in Rome and also Florence. Jean returned to New York the weekend before last where she was met by her daughter, Jenny Smith, and Pam Williams who flew to New York. They were also met by R.J.'s father and went sight-seeing to the Statue of Liberty before driving back to Grayling. Bernie had continued on to Israel and also went to Lebanon and the Syrian border before flying home last Thursday.

Five-year-old Jon Feldhauser, son of Tom Feldhauser and Mrs. Linda Crane, of Wurtsmith AFB, Oscoda, spent a week the first part of October with his grandparents, Norman and Helen Feldhauser. On October 11, he and his stepfather, Capt. Mark Crane, drove to Colorado Springs on their way to Crane's new base in California. Later in the week, Tom and his sister, Grace Feldhauser, drove Linda to Metro Airport for her flight to Colorado where she met her husband and son and continued on west with them. Previously Linda had spent a week in Grayling visiting her family.

Resource Review

by Bruce Patrick
Conservation Officer

A question frequently asked this time of year "What right does a hunter have to enter private property to retrieve a dead or wounded deer?" The following is the first three paragraphs from an Attorney General's Opinion dated February 4, 1930:

"A wounded deer runs on to private property - the hunter who so wounds a deer does not have a right to enter upon private property without permission from the landowner, and he would be subject to provisions of the...

Trespass Act if he does so enter."

"A wounded deer runs on to private property and dies within sight of the hunter - same rationale as above. The hunter is a trespasser if he enters without permission."

"If the landowner, however, takes possession of the deer, he is in violation of the provision that prohibits possession without tagging, and if he places his own tag on the deer, he is in violation for tagging a deer he himself did not kill. Actually, the deer still belongs to the state."

The same answer applies today, 56 years later.

RSVP Reports

by Jann Armstrong
Secretary - Assistant

This week our hats are off to some special volunteers! The gals that put together the monthly Commission on Aging bulletins, Ingaborg Leslie, Edie Adams, Myrtle Yost, Nola Robertson, Evelena Allen, and Hazel Tottingham. Donna Davis, a faithful regular, was unable to be with them along with Betty Price, another dependable worker. The people responsible for the delivery of the bulletins are Harold Porter, the Grayling area, Eva Hulbert, the Frederic area, John Leykauf, South Branch, and Henry Forster delivers to Lovells. Over 700 bulletins are assembled and delivered by these people.

Don't forget to mark December the 6th for the 1st annual RSVP's "Santa's Gift Shop." There will be all kinds of goodies, along with special treats for the little ones.

If you like to sew such as Olga Miller, Frances Pick, Georgea Royce, Vi Hohner, Vivian Smith and are at least 60 years of age, RSVP needs you. We also need people that like Catherine Baker, Pearl Connolly, and Eva Hulbert to cut P.J.'s or nightgowns.

If you would like to help out in this worthwhile cause, please contact our office which is located at 308 Lawndale or call and we will get the pattern and material to you. Our phone number is 348-4341 and our office hours are from 8:30 - 4:30 Monday thru Friday.

Thanks

Words cannot express my feelings to all of you who attended my semi-surprise party last Saturday evening.

For the many plaques, kind words and cards - my sincere thanks.

It has been my privilege to have been able to serve you through the pages of the Avalanche.

Again, many thanks to one and all for everything - may God bless.

The ol' fella, the bride, Tasha and the deceased turkey.

THANK YOU

A big thank you to my many relatives, friends and neighbors for their flowers, gifts and prayers. To the fine Doctors and Nurses for their concern and care during and before my surgery. To the others too numerous to mention, I love you all and God Bless.

Rain, Rain, Go Away!

"Rain, rain, go away; come again another day."

Question: When?

For most of us there is no good day for rain to come. It cancels family outings, stymies outside games, and generally upsets our schedules.

But rain depends upon perspective. For the farmer, with crops dying in the field, any day is a good day for rain. And in our better, saner moments we all know that without rain the cycle of nature cannot happen and life becomes deserts.

The other night I got caught in the rain. I went into a meeting, damp all over and completely wet in spots. I complained, but then a poem by William Stidger came to mind. He wrote: "I saw God wash the world last night, and hang it out to dry."

Now that's perspective! And even in my damp condition the rain that had drenched me seemed a bit less damaging.

And then I remembered the last part of Stidger's poem: "I wish that He would wash me as white as that old birch tree."

As the Psalmist put it: "Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow." (Ps. 51:7)
